ACOOG/Ortho Women's Health Resident Thesis Annual Award Competition

RULES AND REGULATIONS

The purpose of this program is to promote resident research in obstetrics and gynecology and to acquaint the resident with the ACOOG and the Annual Convention. Residents are encouraged to contribute to the knowledge of all osteopathic physicians participating in the treatment of female patients.

AWARD:

The policy of this program provides for one recipient. The recipient of the paper chosen for this award will receive a $2,500.00 grant, a plaque provided by Ortho Women's Health, round-trip coach airfare (at the best rate), one night hotel accommodation (if required), and waiver of the registration fee at the Annual Convention.

ELIGIBILITY:

- Entrants must be in a residency program approved by the American Osteopathic Association.

RULES:

- A signed Application must be submitted to the ACOOG Office by the deadline of December 1.
- With the application, submit SEVEN (7) copies without identification (i.e., personal names, acknowledgements, hospitals or locations). Strike out identifying phrases with the submission of the 7 copies. NOTE: Include ONE (1) original research project without alteration, and denote as "original".
- Theses are judged by the ACOOG Awards Committee.
- Theses require a 30 minute reading time, winner is required to present at the Annual Convention.
- Recognition plaque and award presentation will be made at the convention.
