ACOOG Postgraduate Thesis Annual Award Competition

RULES AND REGULATIONS

The purpose of this program is to promote postgraduate research in obstetrics and gynecology and to acquaint the resident or fellow with the ACOOG and the Annual Convention. This program is available to all osteopathic physicians in an AOA accredited program, ACGME program, or any resident or fellow of an osteopathic recognized ACGME postgraduate training program and are encouraged to contribute to the knowledge of all osteopathic physicians participating in the treatment of female patients.

AWARD:

The policy of this program provides for one recipient. The recipient of the paper chosen for this award will receive a $2,500.00 grant, a plaque, round-trip coach airfare (at the best rate), one night hotel accommodation (if required), and waiver of the registration fee at the Annual Convention.

ELIGIBILITY:

- Entrants must be an osteopathic physician in an AOA accredited program, ACGME program, or any resident or fellow of an Osteopathically recognized ACGME residency or fellowship training program and has an active ACOOG membership.

RULES:

- A signed Application must be submitted to the ACOOG Office by the deadline of November 1st.
- With the application, submit one copy without identification (i.e., personal names, acknowledgements, hospitals or locations). Strike out identifying phrases with the submission of that copy. NOTE: Include ONE (1) original research project without alteration, and denote as "original".
- Theses are judged by the ACOOG Research and Awards Committee.
- Theses require a 30-minute reading time, winner is required to present at the Annual Convention.
- Recognition plaque and award presentation will be made at the convention.
